

Early Career Teachers · Session 5

Working in Partnership

Working in partnership

What is the goal of these intersecting partnerships?

Every partner brings different knowledge and a different relationship with the student.

The student is at the centre of every partnership.

Building a home-school partnership

Parents and families are the first and continuing educators of their children

Learning is lifelong and occurs in multiple settings

Partnerships, schools and school communities flourish when the diversity and strengths of families are valued and leveraged

Community engagement expands responsibility and resources

Partnerships grow from mutual trust, respect and responsibility

Partnerships need committed, collaborative and creative leadership

Family-School Partnerships Framework, Department of Education, 2020

What is effective collaboration?

Shared goals

Shared values

Mutual trust and respect

Consult on decision-making

Seeing other perspectives

Invite curiosity: How could we work together for better learning outcomes?

Centring student voice

Assume good intent

Families near the start of the journey

Start with where the family is now.

Around diagnosis

Some families are new to autism, new terms and new services.

First meetings

Meeting a new teacher can bring back earlier experiences with school.

Transition points

Starting school, a new year or a new school can be a hard time.

What helps

A clear purpose, plain language, time for questions and a next step everyone understands.

You don't need every answer. Curiosity and clear information help more.

Power dynamics

Power can sit in:

Socio-economic status

Historical / cultural experiences of education

Speaking English vs speaking a language other than English

Pedagogy / understanding of school systems and curriculum

Perception of the importance / experience of school

Power dynamics activity

On Post-it notes:

- 1 Write an example of an imbalance in power dynamics from a home perspective.
- 2 Write an example of an imbalance in power dynamics from a school perspective.
- 3 Write how you could address these imbalances.

Share at your table, or add your notes to the wall under Home, School and Solutions.

6 minutes

Student voice

What decisions were made, and who made them?

What impact did those decisions have on Adon?

Partnership activity

For each partner: what do they bring, and what challenges might they face?

Student	Parents and carers	Teachers	Paraprofessionals
Brings	Brings	Brings	Brings
Challenges	Challenges	Challenges	Challenges

8 minutes

Then compare: what do all four have in common?

The first two minutes

Pairs: one of you is the teacher, the other plays a parent or a student.

Use a scenario from your Participant Guide.
For two minutes, only ask and listen back.
No solving yet. Then swap.

What helps:

Be prepared for meetings

Share information

Ask questions

Seek clarification

Assume the best

6 minutes

Meeting families where they are

Listen before solving.

Ask about communication preferences and priorities

Make room for questions and uncertainty

Explain roles, options and next steps plainly

Check what is workable for the family now

Avoid judging a family's pace, response or choices

Environment-first thinking applies to meetings too: what could the school change about the process?

Consultation literacy

Useful consultation includes:

A clear, shared purpose

Open questions

More than one way to contribute

Respect for student and family knowledge

Accurate recording of what was heard

An agreed action, responsibility and follow-up

Ask, listen, and follow up.

Consulting students and families

With students

Offer communication choices

Meeting preparation

Simple choices

Processing time

Sensory-friendly spaces

Behaviour as communication

Strengths and interests

Support - don't speak for

Clear, accessible questions

With families

Start with students' strengths and interests

Listen to families and value their insights

Use clear, simple language

Respect different perspectives / experiences

Focus on needs, goals and participation

Use real examples from school

Check for shared understanding

Agree on next steps

Keep communication open and ongoing

Asking is part of the job

Early in your career, asking is a strength.

Ask families

“What works at home?” in the first weeks shows care and professionalism.

Ask the student

They are often the quickest way to understand what helps.

Ask colleagues

Support staff who have known a student for years often know the most.

It is fine to say SO

Saying you are still finding out is better than guessing.

Teachers who ask early tend to keep asking. It is a good habit to start.

When student capacity runs out

Discuss capacity without blame. Home and school may observe different parts of the student's experience.

Meltdown

Shutdown

School Can't

Focus on safety, what preceded the situation, what supports recovery and what can change in the environment, task or response.

Partnership tools

Working Together Communication Tool

How are we going to communicate as a home school partnership? (Circle or highlight the ones that are most useful to you)	How often are we going to communicate this way and what are we going to communicate about?	Next steps and dates (write in any meetings or planned communication and when they will happen)
 Text
 Email
 App
 Phone
 Communication book
 Face to face
 Other

Partnership Planning Template

- This template may help parents/carers and school staff to work together. You can tick a box or write down extra ideas.
- The first column lists what has worked well.
- The second column lists what has been challenging.
- The third column lists what could help.

What has worked for you?	What has been challenging?	What could help?
☐ Regular face-to-face catch-ups	☐ Ongoing written communication between home and school	☐ Having a regular time to meet
☐ Regular written feedback, i.e. communication book, reports.	☐ Sharing of goals and concerns	☐ Ongoing written communication between home and school
☐ Regular text messages	☐ Finding a time for parents and schools to speak	☐ Having an advocate or support person at the meetings
☐ Regular emails	☐ Understanding what is important to talk about	☐ Sharing how things are going at home or at school
☐ Regular video conferencing	☐ Feeling heard	☐ Sharing key things that may impact on home or school
☐ Recorded meetings, i.e. audio, video.	☐ Communication, i.e. expressing myself	☐ Voice of the young person being included
☐ Meetings with an advocate	☐ Listening for extended periods of time	☐ List of goals
☐ Group meetings with an advocate	☐ Environment, i.e. fluorescent lighting, noise levels	☐ Different meeting environment
☐ _____	☐ Negative experiences in the past	☐ Visual support for ideas shared in meetings
☐ _____	☐ _____	☐ _____
☐ _____	☐ _____	☐ _____

NCCD Meetings Tool Kit

Use the Tool Kit to make the meeting purpose, consultation process, possible adjustments, evidence and next steps clear. Follow the processes used in your school or system, and explain responsibilities and follow-up.

<https://www.nccd.edu.au/wider-support-materials/meetings-toolkit>

The screenshot shows the NCCD website interface. At the top, there's a dark header with 'Disability Standards for Education resources', 'Frequently asked questions', 'My bookmarks', 'Register', and 'Sign in'. Below this is a light blue navigation bar with the NCCD logo, 'An Australian Government Initiative', a search bar, and menu items: 'Understanding the NCCD', 'NCCD Phases', 'Resources and tools', 'Professional learning', and 'Help and support'. The main content area is titled 'Meetings toolkit' and includes a brief introduction about federal law and the purpose of the toolkit. A list of links is provided, each preceded by a right-pointing chevron. A small feedback box at the top right asks 'Was this resource helpful to you?' with a thumbs up icon and the number 203.

Disability Standards for Education resources | Frequently asked questions | My bookmarks | Register | Sign in

NCCD | An Australian Government Initiative

Understanding the NCCD | NCCD Phases | Resources and tools | Professional learning | Help and support

Resources and tools / Wider support materials / Meetings toolkit | Was this resource helpful to you? 203

Meetings toolkit

Federal law states that students with disability have the right to be consulted before the education provider makes adjustments to enable them to participate in education on the same basis as students without disability. Anyone in a personal or professional relationship with the student can ask for a meeting and everyone should know the purpose of the meeting and who will attend. Talking through the issues and using an agenda can assist people to make decisions about the student's needs. The toolkit provides information to help you to:

- assist people to make decisions about the student's needs
- monitor the student's progress
- Meeting preparation
- Educational adjustments
- teacher responsibilities
- expert advice

The toolkit

This toolkit contains tips for people who have to organise or attend a meeting.

- > Requesting a meeting
- > Managing meetings
- > Being prepared
- > Managing emotions
- > Keeping records
- > Was the meeting successful?

Other practical supports

Autism Connect

National autism helpline

Emotional, practical and financial support for carers.
Call 1800 422 737.

Bridge to the next family conversation

Prepare for one purposeful conversation.

- What needs to be understood?
- What question will open the conversation?
- How will the student's voice be included?
- What can be decided together?
- How and when will the school follow up?

Keep these notes for your conversation plan in Session 6.